

GRAND CARNIVAL SALE.

In honor of the Grand Elks Carnival, which commences May 13th and ends May 18th, we begin tomorrow and inaugurate the Greatest Cut Price Sale ever held in the City of Paducah.

Grand Cut Price Sale on All Our Fine Taffeta Silk and Fine Cloth Skirts.

120 Fine Black Taffeta Silk Skirts, regular price $10.00, Grand Carnival Sale Price, $7.98.
150 fine all-over tucked and deep flounced Taffeta Silk Skirts beautifully trimmed with many Silk Rushings, regular price $15.00, Grand Carnival Sale Price $9.98.

All our Very Fine Taffeta Silk Skirts, regular price $20.00, $25.00 and $30.00, reduced to $12.50, $15.00 and $18.00 for our Grand Carnival Sale.

All our Fine Taffeta Silk Jackets, beautifully trimmed in tucks, regular price $12.00, Grand Carnival Sale Price $7.48.

WAISTS! WAISTS! WAISTS! WAISTS!

Of every Style and Description, every New Shade and Style.

Silk Waists, Satin Waists, Fine Batiste Waists, Fine Linen Waists, Fine Idea Linen Waists, White Waists, Gingham Waists, and Percale Waists. This line of Fine Waists must be seen to be appreciated. Cut Prices in Each and Every One for our Grand Carnival Sale.

They range in price from 50c to $2.98. Don't fail to see them.

Grand Carnival Cut Price Sale in Our Millinery Department.

Just received 1,500 Fine Pattern Hats for our Grand Carnival Sale.
350 Fine Pattern Hats, regular price $3.50, just received for our Grand Carnival Sale, $2.00.
250 Fine Pattern Hats, regular price $4.50, just received for our Grand Carnival Sale, $2.48.

300 Very Fine French Pattern Hats, reduced from $6.00 and $7.00 to $3.00 and $3.50 for our Grand Carnival Sale.

Commencing Saturday, May 11th, each Purchaser of $2.00 or more will receive One Ticket to the Elks' Carnival—Free of Charge.

Remember the place—

THE BAZAAR

215 Broadway, Paducah, Ky.

MRS. HAMILTON

Keeps the Very Latest Styles in Millinery Goods. Give her a call at 329 Broadway. Telephone 697.

.. CHEAPER THAN EVER ..

LUMBER

M. M. STEVENS

Successor to

The RETAIL LUMBER Business

F. RIGLESBERGER & SONS.

1323 South Third Street

Opposite the Riglesberger Mill. Phone 36

LUMBER, LUMBER, LUMBER,

All Kinds at Retail.

SASH DOORS and BLINDS! SASH DOORS and BLINDS!

CHEAPER THAN EVER.

M. M. STEVENS.

This is the season for Spring Cleaning with all Housekeepers, and they should not forget to send their lace curtains along with their collars, cuffs and shirts, to the Star Laundry 120 North Fourth Street. Phone 200.

HOME BREW BEER

Is on draught at all prominent places.

ASK FOR IT.

It is Strictly Union Made and Has no Superior.

The Paducah Brewery Co.

THE PREMIER POSITION

CYCLEDOM

Is Accorded the Williams Bicycle Co.'s

.. K. SPECIAL ..

Easy running, Highest grade Mechanical construction quality and finish unexcelled. $50 wheel for $30.

.. BICYCLES $15 UP ..

5th and Jefferson Sts. FULL LINE SUPPLIES.

IMPORTANT CHANGE.

An important change in the runs of mail clerks on the Illinois Central has just been ordered. The clerks who run between Cairo and New Orleans will have Memphis for their headquarters and the runs will be so divided as to give them more time at Memphis. It will take about forty or fifty clerks to Memphis.

SCREENS.

The best doors and windows at Hank Bros. & Jones.

DR. FRANK BOYD

OFFICE IN BROOK HILL BUILDING.

Telephone -238

Fourth and Broadway.

Take the elevator.

What you need

Spring

Furniture Pot Bed Bug Pot Roach Pot Rat Exterminator Ant Eradicator Household Appliances Brushes

McP. 4 DRUG & B.

LOCAL

—FOR Dr. Pen
—Today there sun, but it was country.

All the latest b D. Clements & topus, Helmet of

—The Red Me
paring for a big Fourth of July.
probably include tween the Mayfi panies.

—Soule's for j

—The next g Kentucky Old E in Carrollton.
isville day before attended.

—Mr. Hugh —Pure drug Soule's.

—Ben Welch claimed that I Thompson, the been discharged owed him $25, before Justice I noon late but compromised.

—Iron was Phone 384.

—The adju Knitting mills
pleted, but ma

—For sale counter scales
ness, 1033 Ma

—Mr. C. M. proving, and i
little each day

—Albert Bay
man of Sharpe 15 varieties th at reduced pr

—Mrs. Joh
burg, who h uremic poison today and the
for her recov

—Pure dru Soule's.

—Mrs. Joh town, died of No funeral been made.

John Broyles
on the Brow

Lax Fos o
At all drug

Lax Fos c all drugstis

Lax Fos
drugstis.

Take Lax
tius. All d

Take Lax
tion. All d

LOST—R please leave reward.

Williams for cycles, 25at

Gas stov
Hank Bro

STREE

All car Broadwa and 12 o

the parl will leav for the us at 11:20
schedule

ELEY

Some Trade

FOR

Friday and Saturday

Elks--

Visitors to Paducah and Fellow Citizens are cordially invited to Visit Our STORE

At 327 Broadway and our Booth, No. 55, on Exhibit street. Our line is the finest in the city. It's worth seeing.

Souvenirs
For All ..
J. L. WOLFE, JEWELER.

No Premium Tickets Given in
.. THIS SALE. ..
ELEY DRY GOODS CO
323-324 BROADWAY.

THE DAILY STORY.

A WAIT OVER.

BY F. H. SWEET.

(Copyright, 1901, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

"Two days' limit," said Willis Bates, as he looked doubtfully at the ticket; "can I make it in that time?"

"Yes," and the agent pushed some change through the window and waited expectantly for the next man in the line. "We make close connections—

ten minutes' stop at Columbia, and twenty at Charlotte for dinner—Jacksonville? Nineteen," and Bates felt himself pushed unceremoniously aside by a portly man who was eager to exchange a bank note for the ticket which was being stamped.

"That's your train on the outside," the agent called warningly; "better hurry!"

As this advice was accentuated by a sharp "All Aboard!" and a rush of a few belated passengers toward the outside track, Bates snatched up his handbag and sprang forward.

"Where! that was certainly close connection," he said grudgingly, swinging himself on the rear car of the moving train. "If I keep on at this rate I'll get through in time for the sale, and that will mean a thousand dollars in my pocket. Lucky I thought of it!"

The parlor car was full, so he went on until he found a seat with a loggia, a curious, insistent hotel runner. Just across was a bright looking woman in a plain traveling suit, and he glanced at her with sudden, half-recognizing inquiry.

But a traveler is always running across faces that look familiar, and his attention was soon engrossed in warding off the advances of the hotel runner. The train rushed on with the vehement, noisy impetuosity peculiar to southern trains, as though striving to give an impression of terrific speed, and the fine South Carolina dust sifted in through the windows and spread thickly over the dingy plush seats, calling forth handkerchiefs and impatient exclamations from the passengers, and swirling now and then into angry clouds at the feeble onslaughts of the train boy's broom.

As he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

THE SUNDAY CHAT: PADUCAH, KY., MAY 19, 1901.

THE DAILY STORY.

A WAIT OVER.

BY F. H. SWEET.

(Copyright, 1901, by Daily Story Pub. Co.)

"Two days' limit," said Willis Bates, as he looked doubtfully at the ticket; "can I make it in that time?"

"Yes," and the agent pushed some change through the window and waited expectantly for the next man in the line. "We make close connections—

ten minutes' stop at Columbia, and twenty at Charlotte for dinner—Jacksonville? Nineteen," and Bates felt himself pushed unceremoniously aside by a portly man who was eager to exchange a bank note for the ticket which was being stamped.

"That's your train on the outside," the agent called warningly; "better hurry!"

As this advice was accentuated by a sharp "All Aboard!" and a rush of a few belated passengers toward the outside track, Bates snatched up his handbag and sprang forward.

"Where! that was certainly close connection," he said grudgingly, swinging himself on the rear car of the moving train. "If I keep on at this rate I'll get through in time for the sale, and that will mean a thousand dollars in my pocket. Lucky I thought of it!"

The parlor car was full, so he went on until he found a seat with a loggia, a curious, insistent hotel runner. Just across was a bright looking woman in a plain traveling suit, and he glanced at her with sudden, half-recognizing inquiry.

But a traveler is always running across faces that look familiar, and his attention was soon engrossed in warding off the advances of the hotel runner. The train rushed on with the vehement, noisy impetuosity peculiar to southern trains, as though striving to give an impression of terrific speed, and the fine South Carolina dust sifted in through the windows and spread thickly over the dingy plush seats, calling forth handkerchiefs and impatient exclamations from the passengers, and swirling now and then into angry clouds at the feeble onslaughts of the train boy's broom.

As he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the ten minutes in a forced defense of politics, and as he sat there, he noticed the woman of the opposite seat looking at him inquiringly, as though she, too, was trying to recall something familiar. But when he turned to her she was gazing from the window.

At Columbia he spent the